

Guest Speaker

Cary Weiner

Colorado State University

Cary Weiner is Clean Energy Specialist for Colorado State University Extension. He holds a Master of Public Administration degree from the University of New Mexico. His previous experience includes being Renewable Energy Planner for the City of Santa Fe, New Mexico and both a budget analyst and environmental educator for the State of New Mexico. In his current position with CSU Extension, Mr. Weiner has: developed a clean energy curriculum for Colorado middle and high schools; developed an 11-week energy education program for volunteers in four counties; delivered numerous energy presentations and workshops; and become Co-Director of CSU's new Center for Agricultural Energy in order to help producers make cost-effective energy decisions.